

Dr. Smyth Quits AEC; Says U.S. Is Prepared For Atomic Warfare

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

DENVER (AP)—Dr. Henry D. Smyth resigned from the Atomic Energy Commission today and declared the United States stockpile of hydrogen and atomic bomb assures free world retaliation of "overwhelming power" against any enemy attack.

President Eisenhower "very reluctantly" accepted the resignation of Smyth, who cast the only dissenting vote last June when the commission refused to lift Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer's suspension from access to secret atomic data.

Chicago Expert Named

The summer White House announced Eisenhower is naming Willard Frank Libby, 45-year-old University of Chicago atomic scientist, to succeed Smyth on the AEC effective Sept. 30.

In resigning, Smyth wrote Eisenhower:

"I hope atomic weapons will continue to act as deterrents to war. But if attack should come, the stockpile we have prepared would assure this country and the free world the capacity to answer with overwhelming power."

Smyth, 56, the only current member of the five-man AEC with a scientific background, has served since President Truman appointed him May 31, 1949, to a term expiring June 30, 1956.

Returns To Princeton

He plans to return to Princeton University, where he was chairman of the physics department and on the faculty from 1924 to 1949.

Smyth's letter to the President made no mention of his dissent in the case of Oppenheimer, who was ruled a security risk by the other four AEC members. Nor did Smyth say anything about differences with Lewis L. Strauss, commission chairman.

In July before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, Smyth testified he felt there was an air of tension on the commission under Chairman Strauss. He joined other Truman-appointed commissioners in opposing a move to give Strauss legal position as the AEC's "principal officer." The move lost and the members retain equal authority on policy matters.

Smyth was one of the principal scientists connected with early atomic bomb research. He wrote a 1945 report detailing development of the A-bomb. He has called for worldwide control of atomic weapons and for freer release of atomic information not connected with the bomb.

Libby, picked by Eisenhower to succeed Smyth, is a professor of chemistry at the University of Chicago and is associated with its Institute for Nuclear Studies. His home is in Chicago.

Lifer Confesses 1940 Murder Of Penn State Girl

MCALISTER, Okla. (AP)—Jack

Ray, 34-year-old lifer and newly confessed killer of a Penn State coed, was pictured today as a campus Casanova with a third grade education.

By his own word, he was twice a murderer, perhaps three times; a car thief and a dope pusher, all within a few short months of a whirlwind crime career that ended 14 years ago.

This is the portrait of a man whose confession is being studied hopefully—if skeptically—by officers in State College, Pa., where Rachel Taylor was beaten to death March 28, 1940.

Threat In Letter

Her bludgeoned and stabbed body, stripped of nearly all clothing, was found six miles from the Penn State campus. Ray said he fetched a letter from her bosom as the prize of his crime.

The letter, according to his confession, was written by his pregnant girl friend, threatening in a fit of anger to expose his dope selling to students.

He said he had nothing against Miss Taylor. The 17-year-old Wildwood, N. J., coed just happened to be a friend of his paramour whose letter detailed his illegal activities under the guise of a college boy selling sweaters. Actually, he told a reporter, he was "pushing" heroin—selling about 150 capsules every three or four weeks for $1.40 a capsule.

Clothing Ripped Off

Ray's confession, obtained by Deputy Sheriff Abner Dear after a behind-the-walls tip in the state prison here, said he beat Miss Taylor to death with a .45 pistol—the same one used in an Oklahoma shooting.

He ripped her clothing off until he found the missile that threatened to destroy him hidden in her brassiere.

Dear said he airmailed Ray's confession to Pennsylvania Tuesday. Officers there, weary of following hundreds of leads that fizzled, said they would study it, reserving an opinion for the present.

The sheriff's office here had no doubt, calling the case "solid as the rock of Gibraltar."

Ray himself told newsmen, after signing the confession: "I've pleaded guilty, haven't I?"

He said he was willing to take a lie detector test and was happy "to get it off my chest after 14 years."

Americans Describe Grilling; 18 Months In Red China Prison

By FRED HAMPSON

HONG KONG (AP)—Looking thin, pale and ill after 18 months in Communist Chinese captivity, two American correspondents and a ship captain from Brooklyn crossed into British Hong Kong today.

One of the trio, National Broadcasting Co. Correspondent Richard Applegate, 37, of Medford, Ore., told a news conference that after months of solitary confinement in a Canton jail and long hours of questioning, he had admitted the Americans waged germ warfare in Korea.

"I thought they either would leave me in that prison until I rotted or that they would kill me," he said.

Accused of Lying

The Reds released Applegate, International News Service Correspondent Donald Dixon, 25, of New York, and Merchant Mariner Benjamin Krasner at the Lowu border bridge. A U. S. consulate car brought them the 40 miles to the mainland across from Hong Kong.

Applegate gave this account of his grilling about the alleged germ warfare in Korea, which he said began after the Reds found out he had been a war correspondent in Korea:

"The first time he was questioned, he got angry and shouted back. 'That's a lie. There were no germs dropped in Korea.'"

The Communist interrogator

tor pounded the desk and yelled. 'You lie! You lie! If you don't tell the truth, we'll kill you. Go back to your cell and think awhile.'"

Almost Hysterical

After long hours, Applegate continued, he began to confess to the germ warfare but the Reds quickly challenged: "You lie. Your confession is different from the American fliers."

"I could not confess what they wanted because I didn't know what they wanted, until they let a translation of Russian stories get into the cell. I knew then what they wanted to hear and I gave it to

Two Mississippi Killers Caught In 5-Day Chase

CARTHAGE, Miss. (AP)—Meek surrenders ended a five-day trail of terror and the murderous bid for freedom by two condemned convicts who didn't seem worried about their dates with the electric chair.

"I'm a thief and no good." 35-year-old Minor Sorber said Tuesday as he hobbled barefooted from a clump of bushes only 40 miles from the Jackson jail he fled early Friday.

Grabbed By Bloodhound

Sorber and 26-year-old Gerald Gallego each claimed credit for masterminding the daring flight from Hinds County Jail.

A bloodhound clamped his jaws on Gallego as the fugitive hid in a briar patch 200 yards from where bloodhounds routed his companion 2½ hours earlier.

Sorber, sentenced to die for helping slash the throat of a fellow convict at State Penitentiary, was gasping for breath as he limped into captivity.

Gallego, facing death for slaying a constable, stepped from a briar patch with his feet wrapped in rags torn from his trousers legs. Patrol cars sped the killers back to "death row" in the Jackson jail where Gallego smashed the skull of Jailer J. C. Landrum with an iron chair leg. Landrum died minutes after Gallego's surrender.

Squealer's Throat Cut

Sorber was scheduled to die a year ago for holding Edgard (Sonny) McGraw's head back while another convict slashed McGraw's throat. Neither man knew McGraw had killed him to uphold the underworld's death code against "squealers."

An appeal to the State Supreme Court postponed the execution. An appeal also postponed Gallego's execution, set for July 15 after he was convicted of slaying Constable Ernest Beazue.

The cases still are pending. A new execution date would be set by the court if the appeals are denied.

Eden Checks With Paris On Plan For Defense Of Europe

PARIS (AP)—British Foreign

Secretary Anthony Eden pushed on to Paris today to learn whether French Premier Pierre Mendes-France will accept Britain's new plan to enlist German troops in the defense of Western Europe.

The veteran British diplomat was scheduled to see Mendes-France almost immediately after his arrival this afternoon. Their meeting will spell success or failure for Eden's whirlwind tour to sell his substitute for the French-killed European Defense Community.

Since his departure from London Saturday, Eden has won quick and hopeful support for his plan from the leaders of West Germany, Italy and the Benelux trio—Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

France today remained the only question mark.

As a replacement for EDC's one-uniform, six-nation European Army, the British propose to link a rearmament West Germany and Italy to the Brussels mutual defense pact signed in 1948 by Britain, France and the three Benelux nations.

The expanded alliance presumably would operate under the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, which has taken over the military phases of the Brussels pact. The big problem appeared to be whether France—whose Parliament voted more than two years ago against admitting Germany into NATO—now would accept such an arrangement.

More FHA Loan Windfalls Listed

CHICAGO (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee today studied a report that builders reaped windfalls totaling nearly 14 million dollars on 40 housing projects financed by government-insured loans.

The new list of projects was submitted by Federal Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole Tuesday as the committee began three days of Chicago hearings on FHA operations.

Cole said the windfalls—or extra profits—represented the difference between actual construction costs and loans based on excessive FHA estimates.

Among the projects listed by Cole were three in which he said a trio of New Yorkers had parlayed a personal investment of $90 into a profit of $735,434.

Another group of New Yorkers with an investment of $10,000 made a windfall of 3½ million dollars, the administrator said.

The FHA official told the committee headed by Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) the new names supplemented a similar list issued June 4.

Outlays Boosted On Employment And Production

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has boosted the deficit it foresees for this fiscal year to nearly 4¾ billion dollars even while slashing a new 3 billion from major security programs.

But it has upped planned outlays in a dozen civilian fields where they could be a spur to production and employment.

The annual revision of spending and income estimates for the current fiscal year, which began July 1, was made public Tuesday night, indicating these over-all changes:

Collections Fall Off

Total spending was reduced from the $65,600,000,000 planned when President Eisenhower submitted the fiscal 1955 budget to Congress last January to a new estimate of 64 billions. This compares with spending of $67,600,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The estimate of net budget receipts was cut from $62,700,000,000 in January to $59,300,000,000. Principle factors contributing to the reduction were congressional tax cuts, bigger-than-expected refunds, and a sharp drop in corporation tax payments. Collections last fiscal year came to $64,600,000,000.

Since the $3,400,000,000 dip in expected revenues outweighed the $1,600,000,000 cut in spending, the administration's estimate of its probable deficit at the end of the fiscal year rose from $2,900,000,000 predicted in January to $4,700,000,000. In fiscal 1954, red ink spending came to 3 billions.

More For Less Money

However, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey told a news conference the administration would try to chop spending where it would hurt neither defense nor the economy. He said, "We are seeking more defense for less money."

And W. J. McNeill, assistant secretary of defense and chief fiscal officer of the Pentagon, told newsmen that despite the new reduction in defense spending, industry would get about twice the volume of defense contracts this year that it received last year.

Eisenhower's January forecasts to Congress for security outlays this year were revised along these lines:

Total "major national security program" outlays—including direct military spending, military aid to Allies, atomic energy activities and stockpiling of strategic materials—will be $41,900,000,000 this year instead of $44,860,000,000 programmed last January. The new estimate represented a $4,300,000,000 drop from last year. Military spending estimates were cut from 37½ billion dollars to 35½ billions.

Army Takes Cut

Army outlays were cut from 10½ billions to 9½ billions; the Air Force from 16½ billions to 15½ billions; and the Navy was cut from 10½ billion dollars to about 10½ billions.

The other major security programs underwent these changes: Mutual military aid—down a billion dollars to 3½ billions; Atomic Energy Commission—down about 225 millions to $2,200,000,000 still a peak atomic outlay; stockpiling—up by 300 million dollars to 900 millions.

Ishpeming C&NW Run Unprofitable

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago and North Western Railway has filed a petition with the Michigan Public Service Commission at Lansing to abandon service of its Peninsula 400 streamliner between Escanaba and Ishpeming, Mich.

The company blamed poor patronage for the move. It estimated operations between the two Michigan points cost the railway $80,000 year.

The fast passenger train would continue to operate between Chicago and Escanaba, the railroad said. The petition asks approval to discontinue Escanaba-Ishpeming service of train Nos. 214, 240, and 209. Nos. 214 and 209 are eastbound and westbound daily trains, respectively. No. 240 is eastbound Sunday only. No proposed date for dropping the service was suggested.

Delta County Lowest In Cost Of Courthouse

LANSING (AP)—The per capita cost of county government in Michigan last year rose $1.81 to $26.78, Aud. Gen. John B. Martin reported today.

Martin said the per capita cost, exclusive of debt retirement, was $24.97 in 1952 and $26.78 in 1953. Excluding capital outlay costs also brought the figure down to $24.50.

Martin said the operating costs of counties ranged from a low of $17.92 in Bay County and $17.93 in Kent County to $90.01 in Keweenaw County and $68.69 in Oscoda County. The Keweenaw figure, Martin said, would be reduced to $68.96 if the cost of operating a county park from park revenue were eliminated.

Administrative costs of the counties, the usual "courthouse" expenses, ranged from $3.04 in Delta County and $3.20 in Kent county to $10.28 in Keweenaw.

The cost of county highway maintenance and construction ran from $5.53 in Wayne and $6.87 in Bay to $55.06 in Oscoda County.

Ionia County had the lowest per capita cost, $3.52, for health welfare and medical assistance programs, and Crawford County was next with $3.75. Highest were Keweenaw at $18.55 and Manistee at $13.51.

Peninsula Coal World's Oldest

LANSING (AP)—Geological authorities confirmed today that a deposit of the oldest coal in the world has been found in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

L. P. Barrett of the Atomic Energy Commission reported to State Conservation Director G. E. Eddy that he and two university colleagues had confirmed this summer that a deposit of coal seven miles north of Iron River was laid down millions of years before all the rest of the world's known coal deposits.

The site of the discovery was excavated under a $2,000 grant from the Geological Society of America.

The findings placed the coal with pre-Cambrian rocks which geologists say are more than 500 million years old.

All other coal deposits known previously were laid down around 280 million years ago.

Barrett made no attempt to assess the commercial possibilities of the find, but Eddy, himself a geologist, said he doubted there was enough to make mining profitable.

Nominees Picked For November In Nine States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Republican Sen. Robert W. Upson of New Hampshire was the most notable casualty Tuesday as primary warms in nine states produced party candidates for the November elections.

Otherwise, congressional incumbents weathered this preliminary skirmishing—the biggest batch of primaries this year.

Voters in New Hampshire, New York, Vermont, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Colorado, Utah, Minnesota and Washington picked nominees for five Senate and 92 House seats, for six governorships and a host of other state and local offices. The vote was reported light in several states.

Two States Left

The selection of candidates for the Nov. 2 balloting will be completed later this month with a primary in Rhode Island and conventions in New York State.

Upson, 70, was defeated by veteran U.S. Rep. Norris Cotton, 54, in a three-way race for the GOP nomination to serve the last two years of the late Sen. Charles W. Tobey's six-year term. Running third was Wesley Powell, a 37-year-old attorney who four years ago came close to unseating Tobey in the primary. In recent years, Republican nomination has meant election in New Hampshire.

Upson, who has been serving under appointment since Tobey's death last year, was the second U.S. senator to suffer defeat in a primary test this year. The other was Sen. Alton Lennon (D-N.C.). Six House incumbents also have been beaten in bids for renomination.

Was Truman Advisor

In another contest that drew national attention, former Democratic Rep. John A. Carroll, 53, won his party's nomination for the Senate from Colorado. He downed Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver. Carroll formerly was an adviser to President Truman. He will face Lt. Gov. Gordon Allott, who was unopposed for the GOP Senate nomination.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson now holds the seat for which Carroll and Allott will vie. Johnson chose to run instead for governor of Colorado and he was unopposed in the Democratic primary. Johnson's opponent Nov. 2 will be State Sen. Donald G. Brotzman, the only candidate in the GOP gubernatorial primary.

McCarthy Foe Wins

Other highlights of Tuesday's primaries: Wisconsin—Fred R. Zimmerman, 74-year-old foe of Sen. McCarthy, won Republican nomination for an 11th term as secretary of state.

With only a couple of hundred precincts unreported out of the state's 3,288, Zimmerman had 190,747 to 135,476 for Miss Joyce M. Larkin, former weekly newspaper publisher who had the endorsement of the state GOP organization.

Gov. Walter Kohler was unopposed for a third term Republican nomination. He will contest in November with William Proxmire who unsuccessfully opposed him in 1952. Nearly complete counting gave Proxmire 139,692 for the Democratic nomination to 80,497 for James E. Doyle, co-chairman of the National Americans for Democratic Action.

Rep. Gardner Withrow, Republican, the only one of Wisconsin's House members who had opposition, was over 4,500 ahead of the nearer of two rivals, John Bossard, La Crosse district attorney, with only one precinct unreported.

Saltonstall Unopposed

Utah—Mrs. Reva Beck Besone, red-haired veteran of two House terms, won an easy victory in her quest for the Democratic nomination in Utah's 2nd District and a crack at Republican Rep. William

Utility Profits Put City In Good Financial Shape

Operating results of the city utilities were favorable, actual revenues were above estimates, and in general the city of Escanaba is in excellent financial condition, according to a report for the fiscal year ending June 30 by City Controller Alfred H. Lawrence.

The controller's report of revenues and expenditures, general fund and utilities for the past fiscal year was addressed to the City Council.

Net profit of the city's four utilities (electric, gas, water and steam) totaled $225,978.08 and was $13,177.47 above estimates, the report shows.

PAY TAXES, INTEREST
General fund revenues from all sources, including state sales tax returns and parking meters, totaled $910,377.16 and was $69,348.43 above estimates. The unappropriated surplus in the general fund at the close of the fiscal year was increased $108,172.32, accounted for by the $69,348.43 excess in revenues and expenditures under appropriations in the amount of $38,823.89.

Besides the actual net profit of the utilities totaling $225,978.08 for the past fiscal year, the utilities paid the city interest on investment and taxes which brought the total utilities revenues to $293,097.37.

Of the four city utilities, the electric utility was the biggest money maker for the city. The net profits for the four utilities are as follows: Electric — $236,040.59; gas—$1,659.97; water—$1,412.77; and steam—(loss) $13,135.25.

Meter Revenue Up

Revenues from city taxes totaled $249,689.99; from the state (largely in gasoline and sales tax returns) totaled $265,050.26; and revenues from other sources total $89,539.54.

Parking meter revenue for the past fiscal year totaled $29,644.23, compared to an estimated revenue of $16,500. The city paid one-half of the total revenue to the company from which the meters were purchased, as required under the agreement. The payment was, therefore, twice as large as had been estimated.

In a break-down on utility profit and loss, the controller reported that total operating revenue from all utilities was $972,155.80. Operating expense totaled $571,741.92 and with depreciation, interest on long term debt, contribution to the replacement fund, taxes and interest on investment the total deductions were $746,177.72, leaving $225,978.08 as the net profit.

Lemmer Named On Commission

LANSING (AP) — A 38-member Michigan Commission on Educational Policies was appointed today to advise the State Department of Public Instruction.

Making the appointments, Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of the department, said the commission would meet Oct. 13 to consider a three-fold program. It would include youth problems and programs, school district reorganization and the role of the community college in state educational plans.

The commission is headed by Herbert Estes of Ann Arbor, chairman. Its members include:

Dr. Ernest R. Britton, Midland school superintendent; C. E. Buskirk of Paw Paw, president of the State Farm Bureau; Rep. Allison Green (R-Kingston); John A. Lemmer, Escanaba school superintendent; Everett Luce of Midland, president of the Association of School Boards; Kent Lundgren of Menominee, state American Legion commander; Mrs. Louisa Mohr of South Haven; R. J. Ranum of St. Joseph and President Paul V. Sangren of Western Michigan College.

Curbs On Corn Acreage Eased

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson today eased government restrictions on use of upwards of 40 million acres of crop land in 1955.

The regulations apply to land diverted from such surplus crops as wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts and tobacco by government crop allotments.

Under what had been called the strictest crop control program in history, Benson several months ago issued orders seeking to limit these diverted acres to non-cash crops such as grass, hay and the like. The idea was to prevent surpluses in other cash crops which are not in over supply now.

But today the secretary told a news conference that farmers will be free to use the diverted acres to grow any crops they want except wheat, cotton, corn, peanuts, major types of tobacco, potatoes and commercial vegetables.

This means that land taken out of cotton, wheat, corn, peanuts and tobacco can be used to grow such livestock feeds as oats, rye, barley, and grain sorghums, and such other crops as soybeans, flaxseed, dry beans and the like.

Benson said this relaxation in controls was made for a number of reasons, including need for more livestock feed in drought areas of the South and Southwest. Another factor was recent action of Congress in providing flexible farm price supports.

The new supports, he said, make production controls less necessary than the war-born high, rigid supports which the variable floors will supplant next year.

Benson also announced that the price support rate for the 1955 wheat crop will be 82.5 per cent of parity, or a national farm average of $2.06 a bushel, under the flexible support scale. This year's crop is being supported at 90 per cent of parity or a national average of $2.24.

Parity is a price for farm goods determined by law as fair to farmers in relations to prices on things a farmer buys.

Woman Struck By Car, Injured

Mrs. Izzetta Miller, 53, wife of Albert Miller, Rapid River, was injured at 9:15 last night when she was struck by a car driven by Hugh O. Hallberg, 51, of Wilmette, Ill., on highway US-2 at Ensign.

Mrs. Miller was backing out of a driveway onto the highway when her car stalled. She got out of the car and when she saw the oncoming car driven by Hallberg, she started to walk towards a nearby ditch. Hallberg started to swing around the disabled car when he saw Mrs. Miller and attempted to swing back. The car struck both Mrs. Miller and the disabled car.

The extent of Mrs. Miller's injuries has not yet been indicated. She was taken to St. Francis Hospital.

Four-Lane Highway, Escanaba To Gladstone, Earns High Priority

HIGHWAY Commissioner Charles Ziegler's position that the construction of four-lane highways in the Lower Peninsula to the Straits of Mackinac, in anticipation of increased traffic due to the straits bridge, must await the development of traffic to warrant the expenditures is a sensible viewpoint.

Considerable pressures are developing for four-lane highways in various sections of the Lower Peninsula. Four-lane free-ways are developed now only when the traffic census shows an average of 4,800 cars or more per day.

This traffic standard proves the need for a four-lane highway between Escanaba and Gladstone now, without regard to any increased traffic that may be generated by the straits bridge. The highway department census figures show an average traffic now of more than 7,000 cars per day between Escanaba and Gladstone.

The money is not available now to construct all of the four-lane highways that are being sought in the Lower Peninsula.

It is, of course, logical to utilize available funds for highway construction as the need is proved for better highways. In all probability, better highways in the Lower Peninsula will be required to handle the flow of increased traffic that the bridge will develop. But the construction should come if, as and when the need is proved. It should not be done on a basis of guesswork or community pressure without regard to need.

The state highway department has already indicated its recognition of the need for improved highway facilities between Escanaba and Gladstone. Plans for the development of a four-lane route between the two Delta County cities are now being laid.

The need is here — now. The project deserves a high priority on the state's construction program. The traffic county, already extremely high—by far, the highest in the entire Upper Peninsula—is increasing every year.

Today's vocabulary test is based upon ten fairly tricky words, all of which will prove valuable additions to your vocabulary. For each numbered word below you will find a word of almost the same meaning among the four words and phrases following it. Thus, the word numbered 1 may mean practically the same as the word lettered c. Write this down as 1c.

When you have written down all the answers, check against the correct pairings at the bottom. Here is how we score the quiz: six correct, excellent; eight to nine, superior; ten to seven, good; five or less, poor.

When the club's dignified president arose to introduce Mr. Dietz he began to read to the members a list of the speakers at fifteen previous annual meetings, along with the topics they had chosen. The fifth name on the list stopped him cold.

The Doctor Says . . .

Treatment of a Goiter Differs With Each Case

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

Mrs. E. D. has written that her mother is troubled with over-active thyroid glands and that she has been given radioactive iodine. Naturally, she is anxious to know more about this problem and what it means for her mother.

First, I should like to say that doctors often use several different names for what is really much the same thing: overactive thyroid gland, toxic goiter, Graves' disease and exophthalmic goiter, for example.

No matter which of these names is attached the trouble lies with the thyroid gland which is a structure of specialized tissue lying in front of the neck and sometimes extending down a little way under the breast plate.

It is a gland of internal secretion and manufactures a chemical or hormone which is poured or emptied directly into the blood and therefore carried throughout the system.

AN ENLARGEMENT of the thyroid gland or goiter can produce any one of several different sets of symptoms. The enlargement may be general and the entire gland involved. This is called a diffuse goiter.

The gland may be irregularly enlarged in the form of growths or nodules and this is called a nodular goiter. In such cases, the gland feels rough and irregular. It can be enlarged likewise by cysts and other conditions.

Even when enlarged the thyroid gland may continue to function fairly satisfactorily. But sometimes the secretion becomes excessive or abnormal and causes toxic symptoms. Stated in another way, one can have a simple nodular goiter, a simple diffuse enlargement, a toxic nodular goiter or a toxic diffuse goiter.

THE TREATMENT of a goiter depends on many factors which have to be analyzed in each case individually. Sometimes it is treated simply by watching the condition rather than by any active measures.

A toxic goiter, either of the nodular type or the diffuse type, generally requires some definite treatment.

Until recently the best treatment was almost always an operation, that is, removal of a considerable portion of the diseased thyroid tissue. This was a highly successful procedure and is still frequently advisable and performed with full success.

IN RECENT YEARS other methods of treatment have been found which are effective, at least in suitable cases. Most important of these methods is the drinking of a fluid containing iodine which has been made radioactive.

Needless to say, such treatments must be given by an expert and the dose decided only after careful study of the individual patient.

Goiter is still an important medical disorder but it is less common than in the past, probably because of the widespread use of iodized salt which has been shown to prevent the development of many difficulties of this kind.

Today And Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Our latest treaty, which was signed in Manila last week is not just one more in the series of collective security pacts. It marks a new venture.

The older treaties, like the U. N. Charter, NATO, Rio, Anzus, deal with the invasion of an innocent country by the organized military forces of an aggressor. All the other ways of upsetting and mastering a country—such as civil war, subversion, assassination, bribery, conspiracy, coup d'etat—are not within the scope of the old style pacts. Most, if not all of them, expressly exclude intervention in internal affairs. Although the Manila treaty was foreshadowed in the anti-Communist resolution adopted at the Caracas Conference of American States last winter, it is the first formal instrument in modern times which is designed to license international intervention in internal affairs.

The story of Indo-China showed that the old-style security pact did not fit the realities of that case. Viet Nam was being drawn into the Chinese Communist orbit but it was not being invaded by Red China. Ho Chi Minh was a native leader with a native army, and there was no legal right under the U. N. Charter or under any other pact by which international intervention against him could be authorized. The Manila treaty is designed to establish under certain conditions a legal basis for international intervention inside a threatened country.

OUR POSITION CLEAR

This becomes clear when we remember that the eight governments did not go to Manila in order to take measures against invasion of the territory of any of them by the Red Chinese army. About how we would react to such an invasion we have said everything that can be said and everything that needs to be said. We have said it time and time again. We added nothing by saying it once more in Manila. Red China has not invaded Southeast Asia. But if she wishes to invade it, she is as deterred as it is possible by saying words to deter her. The reality is that without committing aggression under any old style pact, much of Southeast Asia might by internal revolution be carried into the Chinese sphere of influence.

The Manila treaty is aimed at the big hole in the old-style pacts. In a gingerly way the new treaty opens up the possibility of legalized and licensed intervention in internal affairs.

The treaty hedges this right of international intervention. There can be no intervention "except at the invitation or with the consent of the government concerned,"—that is to say, of the government that is threatened with revolution. Nor is there any unconditional obligation to intervene even if invited to do so. The treaty members are free to refrain and are free to decide how they will intervene. But within these limits the treaty establishes a strong legal presumption that if a threatened government asks for intervention it would be contrary to the spirit of the treaty to refuse it.

THAILAND THREATENED

The treaty, as is the fashion among the modern pact-makers, is written in high sounding generalities. But it is plain enough where the treaty is most likely to be put to a practical test. It is in Thailand where the government is threatened with revolution by Pridi Thanomyong, a former Prime Minister who is now in China working, with the blessing of Peking, to rouse the Thai population in southern China and in northern Thailand against the existing government in Bangkok.

The Manila treaty permits the Bangkok government to invite an American intervention and it permits Washington to accept the task. So far as the treaty itself goes this intervention can be anything from economic aid through military aid to direct intervention. What it would actually be is not spelled out but is left to future negotiation and decision among the eight signatories. What is clear in turn is that under the treaty there can be intervention in an internal condition of affairs.

The best thing to do with a treaty of this kind is to avoid, if that is possible, a direct and open showdown of just what everybody concerned is really prepared to do if put to the test. For this is not a treaty of alliance in which we, who would bear the main burden, can expect much from the other members beyond their moral support. Unlike a true alliance, such as NATO for example, this pact does not create collective power to cover the collective liability. In the Manila treaty we have acquired an undefined right and an implied obligation to intervene under certain conditions in Southeast Asia. We can count upon the moral support of the other members only however if our actions before any showdown have been discreet and unprovocative. They have signed no blank checks.

We must assume, I believe, that as a general rule the limit of prudent intervention in a country like Thailand is this side of establishing an American military base in the country. If we did establish a base, we would surely lose the moral support of the other members of the Manila treaty. We would arouse sharp antagonism in India and the other uncommitted countries of South Asia. We would provide the Chinese with grounds for counter measures.

Farmer's Future Life Looks Like Breeze; No Early Rising

By KENNETH O. GILMORE

WASHINGTON —(NEA)—Air-conditioned barns, automatic self-feeders and special hogs without fat—these are but a few of the innovations destined to make life easier for the farmer of the future.

The day is near when a man will not have to rise at dawn to feed the chickens and milk the cows. Science is stepping in to lend a helping hand. Experts at the Department of Agriculture are devising new and better ways of producing more food.

"The time may come when a farmer will have to go to the lot only once a week to check on how things are going," says Dr. Byron T. Shaw, 46-year-old administrator of the Agricultural Research Service.

Imagine cattle that gain three or four pounds a day at no additional cost or chickens capable of laying 240 to 250 eggs a year. This kind of news can quickly make a farmer forget about the problem of price supports, and thus mean a lot to the consumer, too.

Such improvements are not a dream. They have become realities in the laboratories and test lots of the Agricultural Research Service, largest civilian research agency in the government.

Here preparations are already being made for the year 2000, when millions of additional mouths will have to be fed. One study by the Social Security Administration estimates that 50 years hence the U. S. population will have shot up to 250 million.

Have you ever seen a strawberry plant in full bloom when the temperature is down around 18 degrees? Now they can be grown under such freezing conditions, although you probably will have to shove them in the ice box after they are picked.

Scientists have also discovered that temperature and humidity have direct effects on livestock production. Keeping barns cooled during the summer months seems a bit fancy but animals respond to this high class treatment by putting on more weight.

All sorts of amazing, multi-purpose equipment will make some of the farmer's toughest chores a breeze. Dr. Shaw points out that machines, in one trip over a field, will be able to plant, fertilize and spray weeds at the same time.

Beef cattle raising is going to be a much more automatic operation—with self-feeders, systematic insecticides, self operating waterers and dozens of other developments," adds Shaw.

Strange looking gigantic fruit may eventually be appearing in grocery stores. Unusually large grapes have already been grown with the help of a chemical called colchicine, which is used to treat gout.

Insects, the scourge of many a farmer, are being directed towards beneficial purposes. Scientists have imported a bug that loves to eat nothing but Klamath weed, a serious pest of western range lands. Under the attack of this discriminating eater the weed has been controlled on nearly half a million acres of land.

Shoppers who are always looking for good lean bacon will soon be able to buy all they want. Plenty of special fatless pigs will be on the market in the next few years.

Dr. Shaw also feels sure his technicians can eventually breed away pounds of back and belly fat from beef cattle without destroying the quality of a prime cut of meat.

Various animal diseases continually give the farmer trouble. A live virus has recently been developed which can be sprayed into an enclosed area and thus immunize, in a single operation, large numbers of chickens as well as small fur bearing animals.

"This will become even more important," says Shaw, "as we increase the number of vaccines to protect livestock."

Water will be an extremely important factor in the coming years, according to Shaw, who notes that "the efficiency of most farmers in using irrigation water is probably 35 to 55 per cent."

But he contends "there is no valid reason why 80 per cent efficiency or better cannot be obtained."

That's a typical indication of the high rate of improvement Shaw expects the Agricultural Research Service to attain for the farmer of tomorrow.

GIANT GRAPES of tomorrow are aim of this experiment on grape bud by Dr. Haig Derman, injecting chemical, colchicine.

British-Built Turbo Airliners Begin To Invade U.S. Routes

By JAMES MONTAGNES

TORONTO—(NEA)—For the first time in history, British-built commercial planes will carry passengers on North American airlines this winter when Vickers Viscount turboprop aircraft begin flying between Canadian and United States cities.

"Unless you have traveled in a turboprop airplane, or a pure jet plane, it is difficult to describe the terrific passenger appeal that this method of transportation has to offer," says Jack T. Dymont, chief engineer of the Canadian government-owned airline, Trans-Canada.

The Canadian airline has ordered 22 of the four-engined Viscount aircraft, the first of which will start coming over from England in mid-October. The planes will be on scheduled service by Feb. 1.

One big United States operator—Capital Airlines—has ordered 40 of the British planes, with the first ones to come next spring. It has options on additional planes.

By that time the Canadian airline will have the planes on a number of daily flights between Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, between Toronto and New York, Montreal and New York, Toronto and Chicago, and Toronto and Windsor, opposite Detroit. These runs carry the heaviest traffic between Canada and the United States.

The Viscount aircraft have already been in use on European airways more than a year. Other U. S. airlines besides Capital have indicated interest in the plane.

The turboprop aircraft is neither a full jet nor a conventional piston-engine plane. Like the jet engine the turboprop engine depends on hot gases to drive it. The full jet-powered aircraft has no propellers. The turboprop engine uses its hot air stream to drive a turbine which is geared to a propeller. Trans-Canada's Viscount turboprops have been especially designed for North American service.

As a result of two months of winter flying in Canada in early 1953 with a prototype plane, engineers suggested some 250 major changes to meet North American passenger and safety standards.

Fastest short-range aircraft on the continent, only the U. S.-built DC-7 long-range aircraft is speedier.

The Viscount has less vibration than conventional-powered aircraft, but is slightly noisier when taxiing, a characteristic of all jet-powered aircraft. It has the largest windows of any aircraft, taking up almost half the space from the cabin floor to the baggage rack. The plane will carry 48 passengers and cruise at about 325 miles per hour.

From the airline standpoint, the turboprop aircraft will be easier to service and overhaul. It will fly on cheaper fuel than present aviation gasoline, using what is technically known as JP-4 fuel, a special gasoline now standard on North American military turboprop aircraft.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE SHORT CUT—Pity the poor barber, who no sooner gets his work week on a 40-hour basis so he can spend some time with his family, than the manufacturers bring out gadgets designed to put the barber entirely out of the hair-cutting business.

More people are cutting their own and other people's hair these days than ever before. Parents particularly are taking the shears and Junior in hand to reduce the cost of barber bills.

"All you need to go to work is a comb, shears, clippers, a shaggy head and patience," reports Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine.

Hard times come knocking at the door of more American homes, indicated by the booming sale of low-cost barbering instruments via the mail order catalog.

Not only that, but inventors have turned out a comb-blade type of instrument said to be effective in helping men cut their own hair. You just comb down through your curly locks with one hand while standing with your back to the mirror and holding a small mirror in the other hand.

It sounds rather complicated and somewhat risky. But the result is guaranteed to look exactly like a home-grown haircut.

THE MODERN WAY—Some time ago when we dropped in to visit friends in the country (they are blessed with a big yard, chicken, and an increasing number of children) we were shocked by the appearance of the children's heads.

They looked as if their heads had been run through a lawn mower—a dull lawn mower. We inquired what had happened to them and one of the boys said that Mama had bought electric clippers.

Then mother explained that she had cut the boys' hair for several years with a pair of hand clippers. These were worn out and she decided to go modern and buy the electric kind.

"I don't know what happened," she confessed, blushing. "I would get the clippers started and they would just seem to run away. It does look kind of—choppy, doesn't it?"

At that it looked better than some of the home hair cuts I have seen on other youngsters. Those were the pot or inverted bowl types, with long hair on top and everything shaved off below the top-of-the-ears line.

AMERICAN TRADITION—Hair cuts go with hair styles, and these styles vary in different countries. As the world moves into the atomic age, however, hair cuts are beginning to look more alike, whether they are in China, Italy or Egypt.

The home trim has long been an American tradition, largely because through several centuries there were more heads to be denuded than there were barbers to do the work.

American pioneers hacked off the hirsute surplus with a hunting knife or (as in the case of Buffalo Bill) let the hair grow long and picturesque. The ladies, of course had no problem. They just wound the hair into a bun and poked the whole coiffure under the ample protection of a sun bonnet.

Northern Michigan lumberjacks trimmed each other's hair and—in braggart moods—shaved themselves with the sharp blade of an ax. This last stunt is sometimes repeated at lumberjack jamborees, largely for the benefit of photographers.

VARYING DEGREES—According to the Kiplinger magazine report, the manufacturers of hair clippers turn out two kinds—hand and electric. The clippers are also designed to give different cuts, ranging from fine to coarse.

In the hands of the home amateur, however, most clippers elicit two types of response. One is the simple little "Ouch!" and the other the "Gee whiz, Ma, are your trying to scalp me?"

There are occasional homes where the wife believes she is sufficiently advanced in the art (after practicing on the children) to proposition her husband. Why should Pa be such a wastrel when Ma can do the job for nothing? The result is thorough but satisfactory only to the clippers welder. Pa never did like to attract curious glances.

The professional barbers look upon these extra-curricular activities of the amateur with anything but enthusiasm. Yet they know they cannot halt the tide. It is the same way with the home shave. Many barbers now sell electric razors as a sideline.

There will always be those who like that No. 1 professional hair cut look, and the barber is the only one who can achieve that result.

SUSPECT

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Private Detective Jim Dunn has been retained by Mrs. Kit Carlson "to get something" on her mother-in-law. It develops that there was a sudden death at Mrs. Carlson's home on the West Coast and that Mrs. Carlson is suspected by the family murder, Dunn and Nancy, his wife, are to pose as caretakers on the Carlson summer estate in the Colorado Rockies.

III
Jim stopped in the patch of light before the Creek Junction Hotel and Bar, one of the four buildings in the side-road town. "Won't be a minute, Nancy."

He pushed open the bar's door, stepped into an atmosphere lit by the red neon of the huge juke-box.

"Looking for Toby Argyle," Jim told the bartender.

The baldheaded, squat man, whose wrinkles appeared to be doing their best to hide seven warts, said, "I'm Toby. What do you want?"

Dunn wondered if the facial contortions were supposed to be a smile. "Keys to a place called The Spires. I understand it's out of town a couple miles."

"What do you want them keys for?"

"Do some work on the place before tomorrow," Jim hoped he was striking a right note.

Argyle appeared more genial. "Guess there's plenty to be done still. The old lady finally take it over from the boy?"

"You talking about Mrs. Oswald Carlson?"

"Sure, Mrs. Oswald, we call her around here. The old lady. She's a card."

"I'm glad to hear it," Jim said. "However, I'm not working for her."

The cordiality dropped away from the folds of Argyle's face. "No?" He made another effort. "The younger one then? Mrs. Hilton, though you don't look like her type to me."

Dunn took the order from the Denver real estate company from his pocket, put it on the bar. "Maybe this'll help."

Toby Argyle's eyes moved quickly down the typewritten page. They returned to the top line and began a slower reading. He dropped the paper at last, pushed it back toward Jim. "Mrs. Oswald ain't going to like this."

"Look, Mr. Argyle," Jim said. "All I know is I was hired to come up and get this place ready for my boss who'll arrive tomorrow."

Toby Argyle nodded slowly. "Shouldn't think a city fellow like you'd take such a job though. Lonely place—the Spires."

"A job's a job," Jim said.

"Sure. But there's lots of jobs. Hope you get paid plenty for coming up here."

Jim Dunn thought he knew what was coming and played along. "You bet. These California people don't know the value of money."

"California — eh? See from the paper her name's Mrs. Gelstrap. Funny sort of name, but I guess that cuts no ice. Now look son. Mostly local people work for the Carlsons."

Jim hesitated, then decided there was no particular point in pushing Argyle into a definite offer for desertion. "I can always leave if I don't like it," he said lightly. "Meantime, the rest of the staff outside'll be getting tired waiting. Could I have the keys?"

"More outside, huh? All right, young man. Maybe you know what you're doing. I'll get the keys out of the safe."

Toby Argyle came back at last with a bunch of keys on a length of wire. He twisted the ends of the wire more securely, tossed the keys on the bar. "There you are, young fellow. Sure you and the others won't spend the night? Could get an early start in the morning."

"Thanks, but I guess I'd better obey orders."

He found the side road, cut the jeep's wheels to the left, crossed the main highway and started down a steep incline. A well-made bridge spanned a rushing creek at the bottom and the ascent was equally steep, with the road narrowing. It wound around huge boulders the size of five-room houses.

He slammed on the brakes as he rounded a sharp turn. The headlights of the jeep stopped a scant three feet from a high iron gate, whose ponderous double doors blocked the road.

Dunn got out, walked closer to read the rather faded sign. "No admittance without key." And just to leave no doubt as to the seriousness of the prohibition, there were added smaller words. "Authority of The Carlson Estate." A slim chain was looped around the

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the most difficult jobs of housekeeping is to keep linoleum and asphalt tile floors waxed and gleaming. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it is no longer necessary to wax and scrub. All you do is apply Glaxo with a brush about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre, non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor. Glaxo is available at the Fair Store, Escanaba. (Adv.)

Insect Blight Affects Birches

MIDLAND (P)—A widespread infestation of so-called "skeletonizer" larvae is reported attacking white birch trees in Michigan's Lower Peninsula. The Midland area is reported hard hit by the blight.

Michigan State College entomologists say the infestation is caused by small green worms which eat the chlorophyll in birch leaves causing them to turn brown prematurely.

The infected leaves, when held up to a light, are so skeletonized they are almost transparent.

Tree experts doubt that the infestation constitutes a serious threat to the life of the birch trees. Trees are now approaching the dormant stage with the approach of autumn.

Recommended methods of control involve spraying with DDT or lead arsenate.

Jail Beating Fatal

MASON (P)—Martin Smith, 56, retired Jackson businessman, died Tuesday after being beaten Sunday by another inmate at the Ingham County Jail. Police said Smith, who had been locked up on a charge of drunkenness, was beaten by Lester Scott, 45, of Lansing, who was serving a year's sentence as a third offense drunk and was known as a trouble-maker.

Savings Bond Sales Reach High Record

BUSINESS MIRROR
By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (P)—Sales of U.S. savings bonds are at a nine-year record high. And the Treasury is both pleased and surprised.

During the year of slow down in many business activities, some Americans, to be sure, have been tapping their savings. Insurance companies, for example, report there has been more borrowing on policies this year than last. Banks report that many savings accounts have been tapped, especially in regions where industrial unemployment has been heaviest.

Not Spent On Vacations
But other Americans—and apparently they are in the majority—have been adding to their savings in this mildly depressed year at a faster rate than it did in the exuberant early months of 1953.

The U. S. Treasury is particularly surprised with its sales of Series E and H savings bonds in August. It had supposed that whatever cash Americans scraped together would be spent on vacations. But 415 million dollars were put into savings bonds last month, an increase of 20 per cent over August 1953.

So far this year Americans have bought almost 3½ billion dollars worth of the bonds. And sales have stayed well ahead of cash-ins.

Even bigger sums are going into the various savings institutions. Life insurance companies are selling more policies this year than last. Banks report time deposit totals swelling. Savings and loan associations have registered gains almost steady all year.

Debt Goes Up
This great mass of savings collected by institutions has been absorbing the big flow of offerings of corporate and public bonds.

For debt has been rising at the same time that private saving has. The total of federal, state and local government debt has gone up steadily this year. And so has corporate debt, in spite of the tendency this year to hold down on plant expansion and watch the pennies.

The rise in private savings has surprised many observers. Earlier it was supposed that as industrial activity slowed down and incomes tended to shrink, people would tap their savings to keep up their living standards.

Instead, people have paid off their old installment debts at a faster rate than they have taken on new ones. And, perhaps because they worried a little about their future, they've been quicker to put aside some money than to spend it for present wants.

Dulles Has Rush Trip To Europe

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of State Dulles will fly to Europe tonight for talks on the German rearmament problem created by French rejection of the European Defense Community. He will visit Bonn and London but bypass Paris.

The hurry-up trip will alter the secretary's plans for a personal report to the nation tonight (6:45 p.m. CST) on the recently concluded eight-nation treaty to defend Southeast Asia against Communist aggression. The address will go on as scheduled but it will go over the air from a recording.

The State Department said Dulles and several aides will arrive at Bonn, capital of West Germany, Thursday for talks with Chancellor Adenauer.

He will then fly to London for talks with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden. Eden is presently on a tour of West European capitals on the German defense problem.

Dulles will arrive back in Washington Saturday morning in time for final preparations for attendance at the opening of the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday.

Nude Skull Blamed By British Soldier For 4-Months AWOL

CATTERICK, England (P)—Pvt. William H. McIntyre, hairless at 18, told a court-martial Tuesday he ran away from the British Army because other soldiers called him "Old Baldy."

McIntyre had official permission to wear a paratrooper's beret until he could get a wig. But he said noncoms who did not know this were constantly forcing him to bare his nude skull.

The unhappy private, who gave himself up after four months, pleaded guilty to being absent without leave.

He was sentenced to five days in the guardhouse.

Nominees Chosen In 9 States For November Ballot

A. Dawson, who unseated her two years ago. Dawson was unopposed for renomination.

Massachusetts—A veteran member of the Bay State Legislature, Robert F. Murphy, won the Democratic nomination for governor in his first try at statewide office. Supported by the State Democratic Convention, Murphy decisively defeated Francis E. Kelly, a Boston lawyer who has served as lieutenant governor and attorney general. Murphy will face Republican Gov. Christian A. Herter, who was unopposed for renomination.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall had no opposition in the GOP primary and he will be opposed in November by Foster Furcolo, state treasurer and former Congress member, who outran two opponents for the Democratic Senate nomination.

Vermont—A comparative newcomer to state politics, Joseph B. Johnson, won the Republican nomination for governor of Vermont, a traditionally solid GOP state. Johnson, a 61-year-old industrialist, will have as his running mate the first woman ever nominated for lieutenant governor in the state's history. She is Mrs. Consuelo Northrop Bailey, speaker of the Vermont House of Representatives. Mrs. Bailey came out on top in a three-cornered fight.

Minnesota Senator Lewis New Hampshire—Cotton's November opponent will be State Rep. Stanley J. Betley of Manchester. With only five of 297 precincts counted Betley was ahead of Mayor Lawrence M. Pickett of Keene for the Democratic nomination, 12,482 to 10,298.

Gerard L. Morin, 30-year-old mayor of Laconia, won over three rivals for the Democratic chance to try to unseat Republican Sen. Styles Bridges for the full Senate term. Bridges was unopposed in the primary.

Minnesota—Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) held a strong lead over two opponents early today and Val Bjornson, Republican state treasurer, seemed well on his way to winning the GOP Senate nomination. Bjornson, too, had two opponents.

Republican Gov. C. Elmer Anderson was renominated without a fight. In the Democratic-Farmer-Labor contest for the gubernatorial nomination, Orville Freeman, MRS. PAULINE MCKELVY, the new Home economics and English teacher at the Rock High School is from Commerce, Texas. She is a graduate of the East Texas State Teachers College, Commerce, Texas. Mrs. McKelvy will also be the girl's physical instructor at the Rock High School.

a Minneapolis lawyer, was outdistancing Paul Rasmussen, a state railroad and warehouse commissioner. New York—Rep. Stuyvesant Wainwright 2nd, a fervent supporter of President Eisenhower, scored a top-heavy renomination victory over Republican William P. Shea, an avowed backer of Sen. McCarthy. Wainwright frequently has criticized the Wisconsin senator. Three other Republican congressmen who had opposition also were renominated without difficulty. They were Reps. Edmund P. Radwan, Ralph A. Gamble and W. Sterling Cole. Cole is chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Washington—In a slim turnout, Washington State voters picked nominees for the state's seven congressional seats. Main interest centered on a four-way race for the Republican nomination for congressmen-at-large. There, former State Rep. Al Canwell appeared headed for a runaway triumph over his three opponents. Democratic Rep. Don Magnuson, the incumbent, was unopposed.

Hugh B. Mitchell, a former U.S. senator and House member, won Democratic nomination in the state's 1st District. He topped two opponents. In his comeback try, Mitchell will try to unhorse Rep. Thomas M. Pelly, who was renominated without opposition.

them. After that I started confessing to being in Chinese waters and everything else they asked.

"I found out the Reds wanted me to lie so I lied plenty. I lied 17 pages of lies. They told me that even the wind from Hong Kong contained germs. I agreed."

All three men smiled and then laughed almost hysterically as they stepped from the consular car to be greeted by almost 70 reporters and cameramen. "Well, I see the newsmen make the news today," Applegate shouted in his usual bantering manner.

Applegate said at the end of the news conference he believed the Communists had benefited the Chinese materially by halting graft, opium smoking and drug traffic "but all at the expense of the personal liberty of the people."

No Longer Neutral

"China is a police state—as far as I could see it was no different from a Fascist dictatorship. Before this happened to me I was a reporter, and as a reporter I tried to stay neutral in the cold war between freedom and communism. "But I'm not neutral any more. I'm going to get into it. I'm going to fight that tyranny any way I can from now on."

All three men were bearded. Dixon, 25, seemed in the worst shape—thin and very pale. The trio had been captured by the Reds March 21, 1953, while sailing Applegate's yacht to the Portuguese colony of Macao.

The Reds did not admit that they were holding the three men until last May at the Geneva conference. Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee, during his recent visit to Peiping with a Labor party delegation, interceded with the Red officials on their behalf after receiving an appeal from Applegate's mother.

'Crime' Admitted

Peiping Radio announced last Sunday they were being deported and the yacht confiscated. It said the three had admitted to the crime of "intrusion into China's territorial waters."

Krasner's Chinese fiancée, Wang Ying, and two Chinese boat boys were captured along with them. The sea captain said today he had not seen the three Chinese at any time during his captivity and does not know now where they are.

Applegate wore soiled blue jeans and a sport shirt, apparently the same clothing he had on when he was captured a year and a half ago. Dixon was in slacks and Krasner in soiled civilian clothing.

Natural Lipstick Shade Perfect For Teen-Agers

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Young teen-agers and their parents will be glad to know there's a way to avoid that age-old dispute: How bright a lipstick shade shall a beginner use?

One firm has a lipstick that just heightens the natural color of the lips, and is flattering for all skin tones. Formulated especially for teen-agers, it's made with pure lanolin, natural softening oils and quality pigments.

Later on, when the teen-ager is old enough to wear a real bright shade of lipstick, she can use this beginner's lipstick as a base coat.

For the teen-ager using a tube of lipstick for the first time, remember to start applying it with your lips clean and dry. Hold the lipstick between your thumb and first two fingers, resting your little finger on your chin as a steady influence as you apply the lipstick.

Start at the middle of your upper lip and follow your natural lip line to the right. Come back to the center of your lip again and repeat the procedure to the While you're in your early teens, acquire the good habit of blotting your lipstick after applying it, and you'll never risk having that smeared, untidy look.

South had no chance whatever for his slam contract—one diamond and one club were sure losers.

Who was to blame for this result—North or South? Obviously, North was the guilty party, and his record was particularly black because he had been given a chance to redeem himself for one error and had spurned that opportunity.

The crucial point of the bidding was that North's first-round leap to three spades was so far out of line that he could not possibly justify himself in giving honest answers to the Blackwood Convention. If North had had close to a three-spade bid, this observation would not apply, but surely North should have realized, however belatedly, that South was expecting a better playing hand than North could supply. As far as top-card values went, the two aces and the king were adequate but when the utterly barren 4-3-3-3 distribution is present, and when there are no fillers worth mentioning, the double raise, forcing to game is bound to mislead partner enormously.

Zoning Topic Of First Meeting Of Jefferson PTA

One Hundred members and guests of the Jefferson PTA enjoyed an interesting presentation of the new proposed zoning ordinance at their first meeting of the school year last evening at the school. The program, as announced by Mrs. Len Dahl, program chairman, is the first in a series on the Jefferson PTA theme for the year, "Know Your Community."

Mrs. Dahl introduced Jesse Pomazal, planning commission chairman who presented the other participants in the discussion. Joseph Ivens, planning commission member, gave a history of the present zoning ordinance and the derivation of authority for the adoption of planning commissions and zoning ordinances. He pointed out that the present zoning ordinance was adopted in 1929 and the planning commission was not created until 1948. The job of the planning commission is only as consultant and advisory to the City Council and the commission only has power to recommend and can neither legislate nor enforce, he stated.

Master Plan First

Robert Clayton, city forester and planning commission staff member, outlined the work of the planning commission, gave a survey of its accomplishments in the six years it has been in existence and cited some problems it has encountered. He said the first job of the commission was to draw up a master plan for the land use in the city which could be used as a guide for recommendations for the next 50 years.

This plan was made by compiling the suggestions and recommendations of the other departments and agencies in the city government and incorporating them into a recommended plan that would be of the greatest benefit to the largest number of people in the city over a long period of time. Mr. Clayton pointed out that it was not a rigid plan but was purposely set up so that it would be flexible and useable. As conditions and factors determining the makeup of the master plan change the plan may be changed to conform with the new situation.

Mr. Pomazal concluded the discussion with a summary of the proposed changes in the zoning ordinance. He stressed the fact that the ordinance would have to be what the people wanted or it would not be enforceable; therefore, the commission was making every effort to find out what the desires of the general public are before turning in the final draft of the proposed ordinance to the City Council for action.

Re-Zoning Class A

A number of present Class A residential sections would be rezoned in line with the apparent wishes of the majority of the residents of the zones to Class B or to light industrial. A number of other changes were outlined with the aid of several large maps of the city indicating the present violations of the zoning ordinance and the suggested changes. Provisions would be made in the new proposal for an equitable solution to the problem of what to do about existing violations of the proposal when it is put into effect, he said.

Besides re-zoning, the new ordinance would be presented in a changed form to make it easier for the property-owner or builder or buyer to locate the sections of the ordinance pertaining to the particular type of building he might own or wish to buy or to build. Mr. Pomazal pointed out that the maps and explanations of the proposed changes will be displayed in a window on Ludington street shortly in the hope of reaching people who might have suggestions or criticisms of the changes so they might bring them to the hearing on the proposed ordinance which the Planning Commission will conduct before the ordinance is presented in final form to the City Council.

Guests At Meeting

Guests who were introduced at the meeting included C. Gust Peterson, Mrs. N. L. Lindquist, Dr. Roy B. Johnson and Dr. Fred Hirn, school board members; Mrs. Fred Hirn who accompanied her husband; John A. Lemmer, public

Virginia Yell, Gerald R. Dufour Wed At Munising

A Munising wedding of interest here is that of Miss Virginia Mae Yell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Yell, 209 Hemlock St., and Gerald R. Dufour, a son of the Frank L. Dufours, 924 W. Superior St., which took place at Sacred Heart Church Sept. 11 at 10 a. m. The double ring ceremony was performed by Father George Albert Permanski.

The bride's gown was fashioned with a lace bodice, Queen Anne stand-up collar, long sleeves pointed over the hand and a full skirt of nylon net over satin with chantilly lace panels over accordion pleated nylon. Her edged fingertip veil was attached to a pearl and rhinestone tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of baby roses and stephanotis.

In Lime Green
Lime green nylon net over taffeta was worn by Mrs. Gary L. Burley, sister of the bridegroom, who was matron of honor. The brocaded lace bodice had a Peter Pan collar. Elbow length gauntlets and a head band of matching rosebuds and taffeta completed her attire. White baby mums formed her colonial bouquet.

Richard E. Dufour served as his brother's best man.

Mrs. Yell wore a navy blue orlon crepe with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Dufour was in fawn lame with navy accessories. Their corsages were white gladioli.

Baskets and vases of gladioli decorated the altar and a gladiolus trimmed arch was at the entrance to the sanctuary. The flowers were arranged by Mrs. R. A. Denman. The Senior Choir directed by Frank Aley sang the music of the service with Miss Barbara Anderson, organist. "Panis Angelicus" was a duet by Eulane Donnelly and Al Latasiewicz, and the latter sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" as the bride presented flowers at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Home Reception
The wedding breakfast for 30 was served at Shay-Nu and the bride's parents gave the evening reception at their home. Mrs. Lawrence Fulcher served the wedding cake and Miss Justine Pawlowski and Miss Antonia Carlson were in charge of the gift table.

The newlyweds will live at 430 Lovell Road in Houghton where Mr. Dufour is in his third year at Michigan College of Mining and Technology. Both are Mather High School graduates. For going away the bride wore a powder blue suit

Good Fur Coat's A Gem; Treat It Like A Rare Jewel

Important rule, in buying a fur coat, is to make sure it's comfortable in action. This girl, trying on sheared beaver jacket, will check to see that armholes are deep enough to slip over suits.

By MARY MURRAY

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Buying a fur coat is not unlike choosing a diamond. A fur coat is an investment, it will be worn more than one season, it represents a fair sum of money.

Place to begin, then, in buying one, is to pick a retailer in whom you've confidence. Just as you go to a fine jeweler for advice on a diamond, you'll find you can depend on a good furrier in choosing your coat.

Some sound general advice in picking and care for a fur coat has been assembled by the Association of Fur Manufacturers.

Never, for instance, attach either jewelry or flowers with pins that will penetrate the fur skins and rub the top hair. This applies to your handbag, too; carry it in different positions so that a single section of the coat is not constantly rubbed by it. It's best to hold a newspaper or package in your hand rather than close to the fur.

If your coat should be out with clated Fur Manufacturers. They suggest, first, that when you go to buy your coat, you try it on for more than appearance.

Make sure that it will be comfortable in action. Check to be sure that the coat, no matter how straight or fitted the silhouette may be, is roomy enough for ease of movement when you walk or when you wrap it about you.

Follow The Rules

Once you've got the coat at home and it's all yours (paid for or not), there are some rules that will prolong its service and good looks.

Never, for instance, attach either jewelry or flowers with pins that will penetrate the fur skins and rub the top hair. This applies to your handbag, too; carry it in different positions so that a single section of the coat is not constantly rubbed by it. It's best to hold a newspaper or package in your hand rather than close to the fur.

If your coat should be out with you in the rain or snow, don't put it near a radiator to dry when you reach home. Hang it away from heat, on a padded hanger, and let it dry at room temperature.

Use a Hanger

Your fur coat should never be hung on a metal peg since it may make a hole in the fur. When you check your coat in a theater or restaurant, make sure it's placed on a hanger. Otherwise, it should be folded and placed on a chair.

A little care, when you put the coat on, will save you wear and tear later. Adjust push-up sleeves by sliding up the wind-breaker lining (if the sleeve is wide) or by the elbow section if the sleeve tapers. This will prevent the fur rubbing thin at the wrists.

When your fur coat is not in use, it belongs in cold storage. Pick a reliable retail furrier or department store. And ask about any cleaning or repairs before the coat goes into storage.

Finally, whenever you need to freshen the look of the fur, shake it briskly. Never comb or brush it.

Nested glasses which are stuck together usually can be separated if the bottom glass is placed in warm water and the top glass filled with cold water.

Resort Traffic At Peak In 1954

The heaviest tourist traffic in Manistique's history was recorded this summer, according to figures released by the Chamber of Commerce Tourist Information Bureau.

A total of 6,635 visitors from 32 states, three foreign countries, and the District of Columbia, registered at the Bureau office from May to September 11, as compared with 5,106 persons in 1953 and 4,600 tourists in 1952.

"Travelers maintained that Manistique has the most pretentious overnight accommodations and the best eating places anywhere on US-2," executive secretary Fred D. Heltman said.

According to Secretary Heltman, most tourists asked about the Big Spring, and inquired about cabin, motel, and restaurant accommodations. An increase in the number of campers was also noted, he said.

Although Michigan visitors led in the total, with 3,358 persons from 246 Upper and Lower Peninsula cities registered, tourists were recorded from as far away as London, England, and Montevideo, Uruguay.

Detroit, Grand Rapids, Flint, Dearborn, and Lansing sent the greatest number of representatives, followed by Royal Oak, Ann Arbor, Kalamazoo, Jackson, and Muskegon.

August drew the majority of travelers, with 3,169 persons stopping during that month. July recorded 2,699 visitors, May and June, 443, and the September 1-September 11 period saw 324 tourists registered.

The highest one-day total on record was compiled August 5, when 248 visitors stopped. Other peak days included July 26, 204 persons; July 28, 176; August 4, 195, and August 9, 167. The greatest number of tourists recorded in one day in 1953 was 163 on July 20.

Following Michigan in number of registrants were Illinois with 1,128 representatives; Ohio, 543; Wisconsin, 424, and Indiana, 381. Minnesota sent 160 persons; New York, 86; Iowa, 71; Missouri, 54; Pennsylvania, 49; and California, 28. Next in number were Massachusetts and New Jersey with 18 representatives, Florida and Georgia, 17; Maryland, 16; Virginia, 15, South Dakota, 14, and Kansas, 10.

Eight visitors registered from Nebraska, seven from Kentucky, five from Washington and Connecticut, four from Mississippi and Arizona, and three from Rhode Island.

Arkansas, Idaho, Wyoming, New Hampshire, and the District of Columbia sent two persons. One visitor was recorded from Oklahoma and Montana.

Visitors from other countries included 142 from Canada, four from Uruguay, and one from England.

The total of 6,635 tourists represents 2,163 signatures for an average of three persons per party. The average party in 1953 was also three.

VFW To Get Five Year Lease On Festival Site

A five year lease will be granted to the Manistique post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars on Manistique River property for a water festival site, it was informally decided at a regular meeting of City Council Monday night.

Included in the provisions of the lease will be clauses giving the post a measure of control over the property during the life of the lease, without, however, denying the public the right to use the area.

Request for immediate action on the lease was expressed at the meeting by Everett Anderson, recently appointed 1955 water festival chairman. Accompanying him to the council session were three other members of the festival committee, John B. Nessman, Donald MacLean and Eli Cousineau.

Anderson told council members that a five-year lease was preferable because the VFW already has spent approximately $600 developing the site for the 1954 festival, and plans to spend substantially more in preparing the area as a permanent location for the water event.

Included in preparation plans, he said, would be the laying of roads, grading and seeding the site, construction of toilet facilities, and improvement of the river beach.

"We would hesitate to make this investment without assurance of being able to use the site and without enough control over the area to prevent damage to ground and facilities," he said. "We have no intent or desire to deny public use of the land, but we feel that we should have enough control to protect the area, particularly during this development period," he added.

Seeding of the area, he said, is expected to be done within the next 10 days.

Anderson pointed out that the new site had been used regularly since the 1954 festival in August both by swimmers and people driving in with cars.

"The day after the festival," he said, "youngsters were up there swimming, diving off our queen's platform. They even rigged up a diving board and anchored two rafts in the river near the swimming site. Some of the youngsters said that the river there was a better place to swim than the quarry."

The VFW was given a six months lease on the property prior to the 1954 festival. Council members advised Anderson and his group that a new lease would be prepared incorporating the VFW's recommendations, and said that action on it would take place at the next city board meeting.

Purchase Of Chloride, Other Matters Acted On By City Monday Night

Purchase of 50 tons of salt (sodium chloride) and 40 tons of calcium chloride for use on municipal streets during the coming fall and winter was authorized by City Council at a regular meeting Monday night.

Request for the purchase was presented by Orson Lavermore, city manager.

The city manager also presented a recommendation that the city purchase a new pump for the new city water works at Intake dam rather than try to rebuild one of the old pumps now being used in the present pumping station.

He pointed out that cost of rebuilding an old pump plus motor repair would equal about half the cost of a new pump. In the end the city would still have an old pump, he said.

The council agreed with him and recommended that he make arrangements to acquire the new pump at an estimated cost of around $1,300.

Discuss Assessor

The matter of hiring a new city assessor to succeed W. G. Stephens, who resigned several months ago, was briefly discussed.

Councilmen decided to study the matter during the next two weeks and to make the appointment, if possible, at its Sept. 27 meeting.

The new assessor also will serve as a member of the County Board of Supervisors which is scheduled to meet in October.

Mayor A. W. Heitman, Councilman Vern C. Linderoth and City Attorney William Hood indicated that they planned to represent the city at a special meeting at Blaney Park Sept. 16, called by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

Purpose of the Blaney session is to consider formation of an Upper Peninsula economic development bureau.

Installation of curbing on the east side of Cedar St., in front of the high school building, also was discussed, as was a proposal that school buses be asked to load and unload students at the north end of the school building rather than on the street in front of it. The manager was asked to discuss the matter with the school superintendent.

Letter From C-C

A letter from the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce asking improvement of State Road (M-94) after its abandonment by the state was read.

Council instructed the clerk to answer the letter, pointing out that until abandonment of this stretch of road the city can make no commitments and also informing the chamber that the state highway department may improve so-called State Road itself before giving it back to the city and county.

The state proposes to abandon the road leading from N. Fifth St. to Brewery Dam, after relocating M-94 on N. Fifth St. extended.

Installation of curbing and a sidewalk on Washington Ave. along U. S. Coast Guard property was authorized by the council. This will connect with curbing and sidewalk recently put in on a special assessment basis.

Choral Group To Start Rehearsal

The Manistique Choral Club, composed of volunteer vocalists of the Manistique area, will begin rehearsals at 7:50 Monday evening, Sept. 20, in the high school auditorium, it is announced.

Importance of the opening rehearsal is emphasized strongly, since actual work on the organization's tenth performance will begin and the interest shown by local singers will determine whether the choral group will be continued.

All singers are requested to use the school's south entrance, facing the State Savings Bank building. Each singer is asked to bring his own copy if he has one; additional scores will be provided by the club.

It is stressed again that every singer in the Manistique area is invited to the rehearsal. There are no dues.

Following the hour's rehearsal there will be a brief business meeting to determine the date of the 1954 Christmas performance. A recording of the joint concert of the choral club and Robert Kee, organist, which was given in Escanaba last January, will be played at this meeting. The public is cordially invited to listen to this recording with the choral singers at 8:30 p. m.

City Pays To Correct Grade Errors On Curbs

E. A. Lawin and Yens Peterson appeared before the City Commission Monday evening to learn what was planned in connection with the street improvement on 14th St., between Michigan and Dakota, adjacent to their homes.

When the city recently graded this block in preparation for a future blacktop project the cut was extremely heavy at the rear end or alley line of the Lawin and Peterson properties, running almost a foot and a half deeper than before. This made curbing on the boulevard and autos driveways useless and would force their replacement.

City Manager H. J. Henrikson said grade used for the curbing provided for a 3-inch drop from Michigan to the alley and a 3-foot drop from the alley to Dakota whereas it is policy to use a straight shot from one street to the next in setting grade.

Commissioners asked who had set the grade for the curbing and driveways and was advised by Lawin that the city had done so many years ago. Lawin also asked who was going to pay for the new curb and driveways saying he did not think he should be penalized for the error of the city.

City Will Pay

It was also disclosed during the evening that on North Court St., which is scheduled for blacktopping there is curbing on one side of the street which is 3 inches higher than curbing on the other side.

Reckless Driver Fined After Crash

Roland Ouellette, Trenary, appeared before Justice of Peace A. T. Sohlberg yesterday afternoon to answer to a charge of reckless driving. He admitted the complaint and was ordered to pay a fine of $25 and assessed court costs of $4.30.

Roland was involved in an accident at the old bridge crossing the Rapid River near the Dutch Mill several weeks ago and in St. Francis Hospital suffering from injuries sustained in the crash.

His ticket was the result of an investigation made by Michigan State Police.

Re-Zoned Lots Stay Re-Zoned

A petition requesting the City Commission to reconsider its recent action in changing two lots at 9th and Minneapolis from residential to business use was brought before the commission at its regular meeting Monday night and was rejected.

The reason given for asking reconsideration was that use of the property for business purposes would constitute a traffic hazard in that area and that police and highway authorities did not favor the change.

The petition bore the signatures of about 50 persons.

The property in question is owned by Mrs. Mary Budzis who has advised the commission that erection of a drive-in dairy-flo is contemplated.

Commissioner Michael LaPine requested names of the signers be read and later offered the comment that the matter of rezoning the property had been under consideration by the commission for nine weeks and the public hearing had been advertised but only one of the persons signing the petition had ever attended the hearings and that person spoke in favor of rezoning at that time.

Dodger-Giant Series Next Week Should Decide Flag

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It became more evident today that the three-game Brooklyn-New York series next week would decide the winner in the National League.

Milwaukee, for all intents and purposes, is out of the running. The Giants took care of that Tuesday night with a 2-1 victory over the Braves. With 12 games to play, the Braves are five and a half back, a virtually insurmountable margin.

The Giants lead the Brooks by three and a half games.

Dodgers Win 4-0

Brooklyn kept in the race with a 4-0 triumph over the Cincinnati Redlegs behind the fine pitching of Johnny Podres. In "mean nothing" National League games, the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Phillies, 5-2, and the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates split a doubleheader. The Cubs won the first, 9-2 and the Pirates the nightcap, 4-0.

In the American League, where it's all over but the shouting, Cleveland defeated Washington, 5-2, and now any combination of two Cleveland victories or two losses by the New York Yankees will make the Indians the new league champions.

The Yankees, meanwhile, continued to play it out by crushing Detroit, 11-0. Baltimore beat Boston, 3-1, and Philadelphia shut out Chicago, 1-0.

Braves Were Stubbhorn

The Giants had their troubles whipping the Braves, who had a 1-0 lead going into the seventh inning. Don Mueller started with a single. Dusty Rhodes walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Willie Mays was passed intentionally to load the bases.

That was all for Gene Conley, who had been pitching well. Chet Nichols replaced Conley and on his first pitch, Bobby Hofman, pinch hitting for Henry Thompson singled Mueller home. Rhodes, who collided with Brave shortstop Johnny Logan on the basepath, was out at the plate.

Wilhelm Gets Win

Sal Maglie started for the Giants and was replaced by Hoyt Wilhelm in the eighth. The reliever got credit for the triumph.

Podres tossed a three-hitter at the Redlegs to lead the Brooks to their sixth straight victory. The Brooks collected nine hits including Carl Furillo's 17th homer of the season.

Red Schoendienst and Rip Repulski hit successive home runs in the eighth inning to give the Giants a 1-0 lead going into the seventh inning. Don Mueller started with a single. Dusty Rhodes walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Willie Mays was passed intentionally to load the bases.

Doomed Yankees Blast Detroit Tigers, 11-0

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT — It was a raw, overcast afternoon, not even suitable for football.

Yet 3,400 fans — a good number considering the conditions — turned out to watch Tuesday's Yankee-Tiger game. Many were there expecting to see further humiliation heaped upon the once-mighty New Yorkers.

It never happened.

Instead, the Yankees put on a fearful batting show and crushed the Tigers, 11-0. Eddie Robinson and Bob Cerv, a pair of behch warmers, knocked in all 11 runs. Cerv hit two home runs and Robinson one.

Players Unruffled

Before the game, Manager Casey Stengel talked to the baseball writers but never once bemoaned the fact that his Yankee reign of terror was about to come to an end.

The players too, appeared unruffled.

It seems very likely that Stengel

Charles Tries Again To Unseat Marciano

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK — Determined to crack a heavyweight champion, Rocky Marciano in Yankee Stadium tonight and the odds are 1-5 that he'll get whipped again.

The 33-year old ex-champion from Cincinnati went the full 15 rounds with the powerful Brooklyn blaster last June 17 but the return figures to be a short and explosive battle.

Most of the experts feel that Charles will have to shoot the works quickly in the hopes of stopping the ever-pressing champion and that, instead of scoring, he will be chopped down by Marciano's savage swings. The pick

Emeralds Aim For Third In Row; Face Negaunee Friday

Four Great Lakes Conference football games are on tap this weekend and the Manistique Emeralds will be shooting for their second straight league win in one of them.

The Emeralds easily downed Ishpeming, 21-0, in the season opener and last week blanked Stephenson 39-0 in non-conference action.

Friday night Coach Dick Bonifas will send his big Manistique crew against Negaunee's Miners. Kickoff time at the Manistique gridiron will be 8:30.

Tied Newberry 20-20

Negaunee, highly rated in preseason estimates, fell 26-13 to the Stambaugh Hilltoppers in the opener but came back to knot Newberry 20-20 last week.

In another Great Lakes contest Friday night Ishpeming will invade Sault Ste. Marie. The Soo Blue Devils, defending conference champs, beat Munising in a conference game and edged the Escanaba Eskimos in non-league competition last week. Ishpeming lost to Manistique and Iron Mountain, 20-7, in two starts.

Saturday night the Gladstone Braves will make their first start against conference competition at Munising. The Braves were edged 12-9 by Escanaba Catholic Central last week.

Nine Regulars Back On Powers Grid Team

POWERS — Coach Marvin Roppele, has high hopes that his Powers High School football team will have a better season than last year.

Last year the Tigers could win only one while losing five, but this season "should be good providing injuries don't hit us," according to Roppele. "Last year injuries kept many regulars out of play for practically the entire season."

Roppele is basing his hopes on the fact that he has nine regulars returning from the 1953 squad. He also has four other lettermen returning, and 17 newcomers. Powers lost only three men via graduation, Earl St. John, Earl Wentland and Ralph Veaser.

In the line, Coach Roppele has returning veteran ends Jim Sargent and Howard Otródovec, tackles

Cardinals and Washington Meet For Charity

CHICAGO — The Chicago Cardinals meet the Baltimore Colts tonight in an exhibition game for charity.

The game, sponsored by the Woman's Board of the Chicago Boys Clubs, is for the benefit of the clubs.

A crowd of 20,000 is expected to see the Cardinals and last exhibition before opening with the New York Giants in regular league play Sept. 26. The Cards have won two and lost six.

The Colts have won two of three preseason games.

Detroit Red Wings Training At Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—The world champion Detroit Red Wings open their second day of training here today in preparation for Saturday's exhibition game with Edmonton, Ont.

Jimmy Skinner, new Red Wing coach, said he was pleased at the appearance of the squad. All the veteran players, who were among the 63 candidates present for opening day drill, looked in good condition, he said.

Departing Jimmy Dykes To Be Honored Tonight

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE — Jimmy Dykes, the puckish, likable baseball veteran of 37 years, will be honored tonight for doing a job he has lost.

The friends he quickly won as manager of the Baltimore Orioles call it "Jimmy Dykes Appreciation Night."

Only a few hours after it was announced that Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox is taking over as boss of the Orioles, the friends of Dykes distributed a circular reporting the party still is on.

Two Quick Moves

They'll give him a present before the game with the Boston Red Sox and throw a party afterward.

It's the second time in as many seasons that Dykes has been removed as manager of an American League club. The Philadelphia Athletics summarily dismissed him at the end of last season after three years.

He was a star third baseman for the Athletics on three pennant winners and for 13 years managed the Chicago team, whence comes his successor in Baltimore.

Dykes has suffered with an Oriole team that battled most of the season to stay out of the cellar. "If I were a drinking man, it would be enough to drive me to drink," he has said many times while the roles have been losing 29 of 48 one-run decisions.

After Oriole president Clarence

Miles announced Tuesday that Richards will be manager next year, the 57-year-old Dykes said: "I'm still the manager until Sept. 25. I understand I have to talk to Richards about any other job with the Orioles. So I'll talk to Richards. I have nothing else in sight."

In Chicago, a news conference was told that Richards has accepted terms to be combination general manager-field manager of the Orioles. He was succeeded immediately by Marty Marion, Sox coach and former St. Louis Cardinals and Browns manager.

The Comiskey family, which owns the Chicago team, had gone through the motions of giving Richards a raise if he would stay, but they would not match Baltimore's three-year tenure, which was considered the deciding factor.

Piloted Cards

Richards is to leave Chicago today for his home in Waxahachie, Texas, for a short rest before formal signing of papers in Baltimore Sept. 24.

Marion will finish out the season at the helm of the Sox and sign a one-year contract to manage them in 1955. The 36-year-old former star Cardinal shortstop was released as manager of the Browns when that club switched to Baltimore last winter.

He directed the Cardinals to third place in 1951 and led the Browns from mid-season of 1952 through 1953.

Women's Amateur Golf Tourney In 4th Round

PITTSBURGH — Mary Lena Faulk, the gaunt Georgian who won the title last year, and Grace Lenczyk, the comeback-bound 1948 champion, were paired today in a fourth round match that could have an important bearing on the 1954 U. S. Women's Amateur golf championship.

Miss Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., won the women's intercollegiate, the national and the Canadian titles in 1948, but has never come close to matching that record since.

Miss Faulk, was carried to the 17th green Tuesday before winning 2 and 1, from blonde Greta Leone of Chicago.

Other Top Matches

Other top matches today included Polly Riley, 1953 runner-up to Miss Faulk, against Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore; upset-winner Virginia Denny of Lake Forest, Ill., against Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif.; Seattle's Pat Lesser and England's Elizabeth Price in an international duel of Curtis Cup players, and Mrs. Marjorie McMillan Lindsey of Decatur, Ill., against youthful Judy Frank of Alpine, N. J.

The two Illinois players, Miss Denny and Mrs. Lindsey, turned in the standout performances of Tuesday's third round.

20 Years Old

Virginia, the 20-year-old younger half of a mother-daughter golfing combination, sank a sensational putt on the 18th green to eliminate British women's champion Frances (Bunt) Stephens, one up. Her mother, the former Virginia Wilson, was a semi-finalist in 1926.

Mrs. Lindsey has been shooting the best golf of the tournament. She shot the front nine in 33 Monday to beat Mrs. Mae Murray Jones. Tuesday she made 12 holes four under par to administer a 7 and 6 lashing to Curtis Cup star Grace DeMoss Smith.

There's one other ex-champion left in the field. She is Atlanta's Dorothy Kirby, the 1951 winner, whose opponent today was 19-year-old Mickey Wright of LaJolla, Calif., the low amateur in this year's Women's Open tournament.

Bob Meyer Fires 34 To Shatter Highland Par

Bob Meyer shrugged off a steady drizzle and a wet course yesterday to turn in a blistering two-under-par 34 at Highland Golf Club, shooting one of the hottest rounds of golf turned in at the club in recent years.

And only a pair of bogeys on the eighth and ninth holes kept Meyer from completely devastating the par-36 course.

Meyer was one under par after the fourth hole and then clicked for three straight birdies for a

Boilermakers Face Rugged Schedule; Veterans Return

By JERRY LISK

LA FAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers, because of a rigorous schedule, could improve 25 percent over last season "and you wouldn't even notice it," in the opinion of Coach Stu Holcomb.

Holcomb starting his eighth season at Purdue, is far from a pessimist. In fact, his optimism last season proved embarrassing as the Boilermakers skidded from co-champion to eighth place with a 2-4 conference record. He has virtually that same team back.

Holcomb isn't saying the Boilermakers will be 25 per cent better than last year, but he is convinced they are potentially a "good" team. His problem, in 19 hold-over lettermen, is replacements.

Tough Openers

Purdue meets Missouri, Notre Dame and Duke in non-conference play and then swings against Wisconsin, Michigan State, Illinois, Iowa, Ohio State and Indiana in the Big Ten race.

Purdue has starters back at every position except at an end post to be manned by Bob Springer a 184-pound junior whom Holcomb rates as good as Bernie Flowers when that brilliant pass snatcher played his second season.

Has Promising Passer

With Springer and Kerr both exceptional receiving ends, the most important rookie may be the No. 2 man quarterbacking Holcomb's fluid T attack, 180-pound Len Dawson of Alliance, Ohio. Dawson is ranked by Holcomb as being one of the best passers in his seven Purdue seasons, a span that included such ace throwers as Bob De Moss and Dale Samuels.

Dawson understands Frankie Gutman, a cool veteran, and straight A student, but not a real dangerous passer.

Although four lettermen are available at fullback, headed by 205-pound Bill Murakowski, Purdue's best dynamite may be sophomore Dan Fuller, 210-pound Honolulu athlete.

Have Good Guards

Purdue may have one of the best guard departments in the Big Ten with 220-pound Tom Bettis and 215-pound Dick Skibinski back as regulars, backed by another rugged letter winner, 195-pound Walt Houston.

At center, 200-pound John Allen, senior letterman, was considered Purdue's most improved player in spring drills. The tackles are led by 206-pound Frank Paparazzo and 238-pound Joe Krupa. They are backed by another letterman, 212-pound Frank Angelotti and an outstanding sophomore, 210-pound Ed Voytek of Cleveland.

Probably Purdue's best money-player is left half Rex Brock, versatile senior, who weighs only 160 pounds but is extremely effective both offensively and defensively. Brock's replacement is a returning serviceman, 175-pound Jim Whitmer.

Defoe Building Plastic Warship

BAY CITY (P)—What next? Now they're building a warship made of plastic.

The Defoe Shipping Co. is building the revolutionary 57-foot craft for the Navy.

Its hull will be composed of reinforced plastic. It will be non-magnetic so the Navy will test it out as a mine sweeper.

The mine sweeper-MSG23—is expected to be ready for tests in early 1955. The Packard Motor Co. is building a pair of 300-horsepower all-aluminum Diesel engines to power the vessel.

Many of the ship's construction details are secret.

But it's known that glass-reinforced plastics have many advantages. For one, repairs are less costly. Also structural plastics are durable under continuous exposure to sea water.

The availability of raw materials is another point in favor of the plastic construction. The glass fibers are produced from sand or silica. The resins are a product of the fast-growing chemical industry.

Plastic hulls have been produced for the armed forces since 1946. But the ideas carried out in the current craft are new insofar as design and construction are concerned.

The plastic hull will weigh 45 tons less than a steel-constructed hull. The Defoe Co. considered many designs and materials before accepting the honeycomb core-sandwich construction which makes the hull light yet strong, and easily built.
